

SE Weekly Notes as of November 7 2016:

Sunday Nov. 7: CTWK & Angel

Children: 7

Jason CTWK spoke to the congregation and explained the "Holiday Hearts" program in its 18th year with us.

He discussed with the kids how special this program is for families and children in need and more about the act of giving, allowing parents to wrap gifts for their children and not about presents.

The children prepared the hearts and then spent some time helping Jason during social hour as congregation came to pick the hearts.

Sunday Oct. 30: Michael Z. & Geraldine

Children: 8

What a fun, lively group of kids we had on Sunday! Since Michael is new to our SE group, we spent some time getting to know one another, Michael began to teach children about the melodies and sang a few songs together and we even got a little saxophone performance by Michael. The children loved it. We will look forward to continuing to work with Michael and enrich our spiritual lives through music!

Sunday Oct. 23: ArtisTree

Children: 9

Greetings! It was a nice turn out today of SE at Artistree on this first day of light snow! The older CTWKR's (Change The World Kids Rising) learned about leading their younger peers through a group drum session while the latter explored 'spirit' meaning through art. The CTWKR's were surprised how readily a steady rhythm calmed and focused their peers. Their intentional eagerness to learn and take responsibility is wonderful to behold. We hope that they can continue to use the creative process to do so soulfully. Until next time-

Sincerely, Ben & Murray

Sunday Oct. 16: CHaD Heros: Run4Ryland

Children: 6+-

We could not have asked for a better day than Sunday to come together and Run4Ryland at the CHaD Heros Event. We had a number of North Chapel SE kiddos (and parents) participate and it was a great time. Thank you to all who helped make it such a success. The Run4Ryland team raised more than $10,000 for the Children's Hospital at Dartmouth.
